Cancel Ratepayers' Vote On Light & Water Franchise; May Appear Before Board of Public Utilities

Sam Lee Laundry Case Now in Hands of Calgary Lawyer; Compensation Rate Boosted.

Regular meeting of the council was held on Monday evening. Present Mayor Antrobus, Councillors Abovassafy, Cox, Dutil, Jenkins and Ramsay.

December report from the MHO was read. It revealed that chicken pox had been prevalent during the month, as well as two cases of scarlet fever.

A second letter was received from the MHO, in which he stated he was not in a position to state whether or not the coal dust was harmful. That responsibility must come from other authorities. A letter was sent to the local mine officials, asking if improvement is being made to combat the coal dust nuisance.

A letter was received from a Calgary lawyer, asking for particulars in the closing of the Sam Lee Laundry. The letter has been placed in the hands of town solicitor S. G. Bannan.

A letter was received, notifying council that it would be necessary for the town of Coleman to nominate a candidate to contest the CNP Municipal Hospital elections in February.

The IOOE, for its book fund, and the Wood's Christmas Home, Calgary, were granted $10 each.

A letter was received from Hon. Lucien Maynard regarding the provincial housing project. Council felt that due to no serious housing shortage in this area it should not take part in the project.

A letter was received from the Compensation Board, advising the council that the premium for 1945 would be raised from $1.60 to $1.75 per $100 salary. The increase is due to the accidents suffered by town employees during the past year.

A letter was received from Coleman Ukrainian Society, asking the council to send a representative to the Sophia Romanko concert on Monday evening, Jan. 29, in the Community hall and to extend a civic welcome to Miss Romanko. Councillors Abovassafy and Dutil will attend the concert on behalf of the council.

Police report for 1944 was submitted and discussed. It was recommended by the retiring police committee that serious study be given the question of engaging a permanent night policeman. The matter will be brought up when the new council sits in February.

Council has been informed by letter from the solicitor, D. G. Mackenzie, that the agreements arrived at in a recent meeting of council and Light & Water officials have been cancelled due to a technicality. Chairman Blackstock, of the Board of Public Utilities, is prepared to hear the case in the middle of February at Calgary. Council will endeavor to prepare its case in order to go before Mr. Blackstock at that time.

Another Coleman youth has fallen on the Italian front. He is Milan Rucka, 21, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Rucka, of Nampa, Alberta, and formerly of Coleman.

Born at Kvacany, Liptov, Czechoslovakia, on April 23, 1923, he came to Canada with his parents when only nine months old. He received his education at Coleman public and high schools, residing here till he was sixteen years of age, moving to Nampa in 1939. On Jan. 18, 1943, he enlisted with Canada's active army. After six months training at Camrose and Calgary he went overseas in July. On Dec. 13, 1943, he received chest wounds caused by shrapnel, which resulted in him being a patient in a Malta hospital for four months. He later returned to the front lines.

The parents received the sad news by wire on Jan. 16 informing them of his death on Jan. 8.

Surviving are his parents, four sisters and a brother, at Nampa; a sister, Mrs. Steve Hatack, and a brother, Bohumil, of Coleman, and an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rucka, of Coleman.

The youth's father is a veteran of the First Great War.

STUDENTS TO TAKE POSTWAR RECONSTRUCTION SURVEY

A number of high school students of sociology and economics classes of grade twelve are giving their time in interviewing householders and business places in order that a survey be taken to help the local committee in presenting the town's postwar needs.

This is part of a nation wide program and its purpose is to bring about as much as possible an evenness of employment after the necessity of war's needs are over.

The committee's (representing the council) main objective at the present time is to co-operate with the provincial body and therefore we ask everyone called upon in turn to co-operate with the students, who through the kindness of their teacher, have seen fit to take on this work.

Mayor Fred Antrobus Tenders Resignation; Term Still Had Another Year To Run

Resignation Was Not Accepted at Council Meeting But Mayor Is Determined to Step Out of Civic Office.

A bomb-shell was thrown into the civic government on Monday evening at the council meeting, when Mayor Fred Antrobus tendered his resignation to the council.

The mayor gave no reason for his action other than the fact that he had served sixteen successive years on the council, the past five as mayor, and that he desired to withdraw from civic office. Council refused to accept his resignation.

On Tuesday morning Mayor Antrobus gave The Journal permission to announce his retirement from civic office, despite the fact that his resignation was not accepted by council.

Mayor Antrobus served for eleven years as a councillor and when Mayor John D'Appolonia decided to resign from civic office, Councillor Antrobus was elected to fill Mr. D'Appolonia's unexpired term. He has since twice successfully contested the office, the past term being by acclamation. He intends to fill the office until a new mayor is elected on Monday, February 22.

Mayor Antrobus also represents Coleman on the municipal hospital board. What his intentions are in regard to this office is not known. An election of board members also takes place during the election of civic office.

EXPLANATION

A wrong impression has been gained by the public in regard to two items appearing in the Red Cross financial statement in last week's issue.

In regard to the item, "Salaries, $56.97." This amount was paid to five miners who lost shifts in order to canvass the two mines on behalf of the Society during the spring campaign for funds. No money for salaries was allotted any member of the Society's executive.

The second item, reading, "Presentation to Miss A. Yuill." No money was spent on Miss Yuill's presentation. The $11.50 item refers to the hotel expense incurred in the Calgary delegation of four Red Cross officials who made the trip here to make the presentation to Miss Yuill for her faithfulness to the Canadian Red Cross Society. J. A. Park, Secretary.

A New Fibre

Made From Ground Nuts And Developed By British Chemists

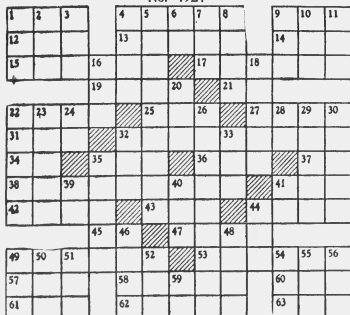

British Chemists in the laboratories of Imperial Chemical Industries have evolved a new fibre. It is made from ground-nuts, more popularly known as monkey-nuts, and has the soft, warm feeling of wool. The material, known as Ardl, has been ready for development since the beginning of the war but has been held up.

It is hoped that Government approval may soon be given for the process to be developed in the British textile industry.

Ardl is regarded not merely as a substitute for wool, but as a complementary fibre which may enable lighter woollen fabrics to be made. Added to cellulose, cotton, or rayon it gives the fabric a new resilience and creas-resisting property besides warmth.

SCOTTISH BAGPIPES

Scottish bagpipers are becoming increasingly popular. 140 sets of bagpipes and 80 practice chanters have been sent to various Services and to prisoners of war camps.

Met Their Match

Stream-Lined Egg Able To Withstand Bomb Blasts

It is rather odd, says the Huron Exploster Seaforth, that the German V-1 and V-2 bombs have been leveling British homes, ripping whole buildings apart and smashing through concrete walls have met their match in a familiar but fragile household article—the egg.

At least we were so informed a few days ago by Walton Cole, news manager of Reuters, the British News Agency, who told members of the Union League Club that the egg, presumably because of its stream-lined shape, was able to withstand bomb blasts which wreck whole interiors of English homes.

AN UNUSUAL NOTICE

City Fire Chief Ernest Greider of Huntington, Ind., was amazed by the necessity to issue a notice requiring private automobile drivers to wait or detain when they find their way blocked by fire equipment. City firemen twice were asked to "move that truck and let me through."

Deadly Weapon

New Device Developed By The United States Navy

A new American artillery weapon developed by the United States Navy is being used on the Germans with "remarkable" effectiveness in the battle of the Ardennes, front dispatches reported recently.

The appearance of the secret weapon was disclosed by the Daily Mail's front correspondent Noel Monks, who said it broke up a German counter-attack on Belfe within an hour.

Monks reported that the weapon spread devastation through the German ranks and forced the Nazis to withdraw after taking "terrible punishment."

There were no details on the new device which Monks and other reporters said littered the battlefield with enemy dead.

TRAVEL RESUMED

Passenger travel between London and Paris by sea and rail has been resumed for the first time since the fall of France. Limited to priority passengers, the service will allow "compassionate" cases the latter possibility to permit relatives in Britain to visit battle casualties in France in cases of "immediate urgency."

Show How Easy It May Be To Break One's Neck

At least three persons in the United States now take seriously the expression, "I'd break my neck to do that." One is Gregory Stengel, 13, of Chicago, who put his football jersey on backwards in his haste to dress for a game, tugged fiercely to get it off and broke his neck. Anne Haldeman, aged 16, of Doylestown, Pa., snapped a vertebra in her neck while skipping rope. And Mrs. Pauline Strother of Indianapolis topped them both by dislocating a vertebra in her neck while vigorously brushing her teeth! All recovered, says the National Safety Council.

Will Stress Quality

Canadian Eggs Going To Britain Are To Be Stamped

The 500,000,000 eggs which Canadian poultrymen will ship to Britain this year will pay their part as goodwill and trade, ambassadors—each will be stamped in indelible ink with the word "Canada." "Although egg stamping is a British requirement, it offers Canada an opportunity to make Britain conscious of the high quality of Canadian eggs," the agriculture department said.

Egg Markets

Ample Demand Seems To Be Assured In The Future

There were three outlets which gave promise of other countries taking considerably more Canadian eggs after the war than they did before. S. C. Barry, Associate Chief Poultry Products Inspection and Grading Services, Dominion Department of Agriculture, told the Poultry Conference held recently at Montreal. The outlets were the British shell market, the British egg product market (for frozen eggs and dried eggs), and the Canadian home market, which was still far from saturation point. When Denmark, Holland, and Ireland returned to their pre-war volume, there were still ample markets for Canadian eggs in the two great egg importing countries, Britain and Germany.

When Germany, once as heavy a buyer of eggs as Britain, reverted from guns to butter, it would take many European eggs to feed the people of that country. Britain will need eggs much beyond her pre-war volume. The billion eggs which Canada produces above the present rate of Canadian home consumption are only 25 per cent. per capita of Britain's population, and an additional 25 per cent. per capita over pre-war levels would still leave Britain using fewer eggs than the people of Canada. The one answer to the billion eggs is assured, if the Canadian poultry industry does a better job in the three essentials—quality, efficiency, and timing.

Two prospects were open to Canada, said Mr. Barry: So to improve storage eggs and perfect storage practices that those eggs would prove very acceptable to the British user. Or to adjust production practices so that there might be surpluses of fresh eggs during the late fall in the marketing problems which have been present. Twenty years ago the present rate of winter production of eggs would have been called wishful thinking.

INADEQUATE DEFENCE

Defeat of the British at the battle of New Orleans in 1812 was partly due to sugar. They constructed fortifications of hogs-heads of sugar, with the thought that they would stop shot like sand. The American batteries used fortifications of bald cotton, and their cannon balls went straight through the British fortifications.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

"SIDE-TRACK"

By PEGGIE BEATY

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Millicent Wayne had come back to Centreville frankly to get a husband. It was her home town, but she had not seen it since she was six. Now, with no money except the three hundred dollars in her purse, she presented the world's best reason why small town girls go home from big city.

The last three years had been telling. First, the concern for which she had worked had failed. Then had followed a long succession of jobs—part time, finally, no job at all. Inevitably, to her mind, marriage seemed the only steady position.

On the train she kept turning over Aunt Agatha's remarks about Centreville. "If ever you go back," she had said, "remember it's the Pembertons who have all the money. They head the bank and practically everything else. Leonard Pemberton must be just about your age now."

As the train pulled in at the gaudy little station, Millicent sighed. But the town itself was pretty. Every family had flower beds, even if they couldn't afford new paint for their houses. The hotel was reasonable and clean. She was, she decided, going to like Centreville, after all.

"The first thing I'll do," she resolved, "is drop in at the bank. Open an account. Then, quite casually, I'll ask to see Mr. Leonard Pemberton. After all, the Pembertons were family friends."

The bank teller was alert and friendly. When she gave her name, he exclaimed, "Don't tell me you're Millie Wayne? I'm Leonard Pemberton." He held out a hand. "Why, when you were knee-high to a grasshopper, we used to play cowboy and Indian together. You were always the Indian," he added.

Millicent laughed. "I'm afraid I haven't many memories of Centreville."

"Well, let's refresh them," he said. "How about dinner tonight?"

Millicent smiled. "All right," she told him.

They went to Ivy Hill Inn and danced to the soothing rhythm of a small but delightful band. All during dinner, Millicent kept staring at Leonard. He was tall, powerfully built, with a likable personality. If this was the way they made them in Centreville, what in the world had she been doing in New York?

On the way back to town, Len said, "I want you to meet my folks." And, suddenly, Millicent felt a little pang of remorse. She glanced at Len quickly to see if he had divined her thoughts, but he was still staring unconcernedly ahead.

"I'd love to," she said. "Only I'd rather wait a while. I still feel a little out of things."

Leonard laughed. "Oh, you'll get over it. My folks'll see to that. Nothing put on about them. But I don't want to rush you."

Millicent saw a good deal of Leonard in the two weeks that followed. He was so natural, so unaffected for a man with money that she just couldn't help liking him. She looked forward to his visits, and evenings when the press of other affairs kept him away, she felt desolate.

It was at the beginning of the third week that they were out to the Riverside Country Club to attend the golf tournament. Going home Leonard said, "Well, young lady, this time I won't take no for an answer. You're coming to my house for dinner tonight. Mom's expecting you."

"Leonard," said Millicent suddenly, "I think I ought to tell you..." and she stopped.

"You don't have to tell me a thing," he returned. "If you have a boy friend at home—well, I only hope I can make you forget him. Air's fair in love and war, you know."

And Millicent, reading what she saw in his eyes, said nothing more. They turned into a side street lined with massive elm trees. It wasn't an impressive street, nor was the house before which they stopped. "Well, here we are," said Len cheerfully. "That's Dad just coming out of the garage."

The older man put an arm around Millicent. "Well, bless my soul if you aren't the living image of your mother. Caroline," he called, "here's little Millie."

A chery, retund little woman in a gingham apron came out on the back porch. "Land sakes," she said, "how you've grown! I always remember you as a prim little shaver with an inquisitive tongue in your head." Millicent laughed in spite of herself. "And now, if you'll excuse me, I've got to get the pie out of the oven. You folks sit on the porch. I'll call you when supper's ready."

The cool of the evening was coming to them fanned by the leaves of the elm trees. Millicent leaned back in her rocking chair. Centreville certainly was nice. "You know," she abruptly addressed Len's father, "I always thought you Pembertons lived on Sunrise Boulevard."

He laughed. "Sunrise Boulevard? Why, no. That's where the other Pembertons live. You know, the ones who have the bank."

Millicent stared at him. "But Leonard—" she managed to say. Len grinned. "Oh, I'm just working for thirty per. I suppose I wouldn't be making that if Dad hadn't named me for Christopher Pemberton's only son."

Millicent sat up with a sharp intake of breath. "Then my mother—didn't she know the Christopher Pembertons?"

The older man was thoughtful. "Just on sight, I guess. We folks on this side of town never did know much about those on the other."

From the back of the house a voice called, "Supper's ready!"

Len reached for Millicent's hand. "I told you Mom and Dad were swell people," he said.

"There never were better," smiled Millicent. For in that moment she knew she had picked the right Pemberton.

The Canadian Rockies

Jasper National Park Preparing For Summer Visitors

When summer visitors begin going back to the Canadian Rockies after the war they will find Jasper National Park all ready for them, according to Major J. A. Wood, park superintendent, interviewed in Montreal.

For the past two summers and during the present winter, Dr. Melver Cowan, University of British Columbia biologist, has been making a wild life survey of the sanctuary which extends over 4,200 square miles, Major Wood said. He has been locating summer and winter ranges and, according to his finds, the animals are very healthy and there has been no falling off in numbers. There has been a tremendous increase in elk, while moose, mule deer, mountain sheep and goats, black bears and the smaller animals are to be found in the park in great numbers.

"Few of the bears actually came into town this past year," the superintendent said. "We had plenty of these visitors looking for handouts the year before, but the latest berry crop was good. The deer are as tame as ever, but we have never had one take the place of 'Old Jasper'."

He was the pet of all the children who used to hang affectionately around his neck and tie ribbons to his horns. He met all the trains and made straight for the dining cars where the crews always had something for him. "Old Jasper" was a familiar figure in the streets of the town for five or six years. He died in the winter of 1940.

Fishing conditions in Jasper are better than ever before. Major Wood reported. Rainbow trout eggs were collected in the spring and eastern brook trout eggs in the fall. Some Great Lake trout were also cultivated and the fish were raised in a hatchery on the Maligne River until they were fingerlings, then they were distributed to the lakes throughout the park.

Last summer 250,000 fingerlings were distributed and 115,000 eggs were sent to other national parks. In addition, 150,000 brook trout are now in the hatchery awaiting spring distribution. Brook trout are sent to the Maligne Lake system and Rainbows to the other lakes.

The roads and trails are in good condition, he said. No new trails have been opened up during the war, except the one-way secondary roads to facilitate the transport of supplies and equipment to the fire rangers. "We had no fires last summer as with certain improvements, we have perfect coverage of the park. Areas overlap and lookout towers are connected by telephone. We are establishing meteorological stations at strategic points so that we may know of conditions at all times and adjust our organization accordingly. Watchers are on duty at all times," he declared.

In answer to a question about skiing in the park, Major Wood said that the Jasper Ski Club had been re-organized and that with the assistance of the volunteer workers were developing Whistler Mountain, near Jasper Park Lodge. "They have a good layout," he said, "and Whistler Mountain will be a big asset to Jasper as a winter sports area."

HERE'S MY FEED PROBLEM...

Has feed a definite effect on the health of baby chicks after hatching?

HERE'S THE ANSWER...

One sure way to save baby chicks is to put the best of the necessary food materials inside the hatching egg. Naturally the only way to do this is through the hen. So feed your laying hens "Miracle" Hatching Mash at least two months before you collect the eggs for the incubator.

"Miracle" Hatching Mash is tested to give your laying hens perfectly balanced food value. If you have plenty of farm grains, mix your own feed with "Miracle" Hatching Mash Supplement.

Fish Are Rich In Value For Body Building

Science belies the old belief that "fish feeds the brain" though perhaps it might be said that "brainy people feed on fish."

The Nutrition Division at Ottawa has this to say about the food value of fish.

"As a protein or body building food, fish and other sea foods, like oysters and clams, are as just as valuable as meat."

"Salt water fish are rich in iodine. This mineral, though needed in minute quantities, is important for it helps to prevent simple goiter which is often prevalent in inland districts."

"Sea foods are one of the few food sources of vitamin D, the sunshine vitamin."

"Clams are especially noted as a good source of calcium and salmon of the B-complex vitamins."

Modern methods of preservation and transportation have introduced many new varieties of salt water fish to Canadians who live a thousand miles or more from the sea. Even with the war-imposed limitations on processing and transportation for civilian consumption, most larger centers offer a choice of salt-water fish the year around and there is variety for menus and good nutrition to be found at the fish counter.

Greece Getting Wheat

Shipments Have Not Been Affected By Political Disturbances

Political disturbances in Greece do not affect shipments of Canadian wheat to assist in relieving food shortages, Trade Minister McKinnon said in an interview.

Shipments, first made in July, 1942, now are going forward at the rate of 500,000 bushels a month. The wheat is distributed by the Swedish Swastika relief commission, composed of representatives of the Swiss International Red Cross and the Swedish government.

Took On Big Job

Corporal With American Unit Accounted For Forty Germans

Roof-top Willie will have to be the name of this one-man air force without a plane. His bombs were hand grenades and his targets were Germans in the house beneath him.

He was just one of the many unidentified heroes of this war. All they know is that Willie was a corporal, part of a unit of 120 infantrymen and about 60 tankmen cut off for three days in a village near the German border by the sudden Nazi counter-offensive.

For 72 bloody hours they fought off an entire German regiment which penetrated into the narrow alleys of the village.

They chopped through buildings to chase the Germans, they rescued their wounded with tanks and they piled up so many German dead in the streets they had to hurdle the bodies in order to retreat.

Willie took on the job of clearing Germans from one of the houses being occupied next door to the doughboys.

He climbed to the icy roof of a two-story gabled house in which the Germans were holed up, slid down to the front edge and laid his rifles over the gutter.

Then he fired two shots toward the front door as a teaser. Four Germans slipped out to see what was going on. Willie pulled the pin from a grenade, squinted over the roof edge for better aim and dropped it.

He hit the jackpot and the four Germans qualified for posthumous Iron Crosses.

Willie grinned as he crept back behind a gable and took another grenade from his pocket. In a moment a patrol of five Germans came out of the house. His aim was true again.

Willie's "mission" lasted nearly an hour despite the bullets of snipers who had spotted his bombing platform. When his pockets were empty of grenades and he finally scrambled down, 40 dead Germans were piled in front of the door.

People In Washington Find Difficulty In Getting Ordinary Handkerchiefs

There is a handkerchief crisis in Washington.

There are plenty for show but none for blow.

A quick survey of six drug stores (naturally you don't expect drugs, but you ought to find handkerchiefs), two "five and tens", three men's haberdasheries and a department store disclosed that medium-priced handkerchiefs have gone the way of alarm clocks and nylon.

The cheapest was 50 cents and from there the price went up... way up to $250 for a slinky looking imported lace job.

Those $250 things, they are "just to look at," said the lady clerk.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

COLEMAN LOSES FAITHFUL SERVANT

Within the next two weeks there will step from civic government one of the longest-service and most faithful servants that Coleman has had in its employ.

It is sixteen years ago that Fred Antrobus successfully contested a seat on the council. Eleven years he sat as councillor, giving valuable advice and guidance in civic affairs. Five years ago he took over the reins of civic government when he succeeded John D'Appollonia to the position of mayor.

During the past five years it has been his endeavor at all times to have the various local organizations unite to the benefit of the town with council always ready to lend a helping hand. He has endeavored to have all Pass towns co-operate for the good of the Pass citizens. He has met with a certain measure of success, of which he can be justly proud.

Sixteen years of faithful service is a long time to serve one's community and his many friends will no doubt express a sincere "thank you" and wish him continued success in his own private pursuits.

MUST CO-OPERATE AT THE ARENA

Coleman Sports Association committee has an unenviable job at the arena. It is duty bound to try and give everyone as good and as pleasant a time as possible and to this end they must curb the playful moods and pranks of many not so responsible and reckless skaters.

Rules and regulations have now been posted at the rinks and other places, and half a dozen youths have been prevailed upon to supervise the skating and other arena sport, but without the co-operation of the majority their job would be made very hard and discouraging and undoubtedly result in chaos.

An appeal is being made to all those who enjoy the sport to abide by these rules for the protection of all. Assist these young supervisors in their work and you will find that everything will function smoothly and thus benefit all.

RATEPAYERS SHOULD ATTEND ANNUAL MEETINGS

Tomorrow (Friday) evening the town council and Coleman school district board will hold their annual meetings. Reports of the past year's work will be read and discussed, as well as the financial statements of both bodies.

It is a long time since the ratepayers have stirred themselves to attend these meetings and say "thank you" to their elected representatives for a good job well done. A great deal of work is done by all councillors and trustees during the year and it is the least the taxpayer can do to be present at these annual meetings to hear what has been accomplished and to say "thanks" when the meetings come to a close.

Letters To The Editor

Coleman, Alberta,
January 22nd, 1945.

The Editor,

Coleman Journal,

Coleman, Alberta.

Dear Sir:

Would you kindly publish the following letter in your paper in reply to the statement made by Dr. Maynes in the January 18th issue of The Coleman Journal:

Reply to Statement of Dr. Maynes
Although the miners' union hospital board feel that there cannot be anything gained by entering into a debate on his case in the press, we do feel that his statement in the Jan. 18th issue of The Coleman Journal is misleading and should be clarified. If Dr. Maynes' miner friends would attend the meetings of their union they would have no cause to ask him for a statement as the hospital board gave him his notice upon the approval of the Union Meeting.

As to the matter of complaints, may we remind Dr. Maynes of the hospital board meeting held September 10th at which the matter of his behavior and conduct was thoroughly discussed and at which he promised the board to attend to his work and office hours.

When Dr. Maynes talks about his major work being 100% satisfactory, may we bring to his attention that our records show a bigger expenditure on specialist fees since his term of service than at any other time. This is aside from many patients who lost confidence in Dr. Maynes and went out of town for treatment.

In conclusion, might we state that his 60-day notice amounts to the same thing as a request for his resignation, that is, we no longer desire his kind of service. The hospital board is the medium through which the miners of Coleman do their business pertaining to the hospital and doctors and their action on the dismissal was sanctioned by a unanimous vote of the Union.

Peter Meronik, Secretary.

Coleman Miners' Union
Hospital Board.

Blairmore Juveniles defeated the local Juveniles 4-3 in a match played here on Thursday, Jan. 18.

On Saturday, Jan. 20, Coleman juvenile-juniors defeated Fernie 4A's juniors 12-1.

Both the above games were fairly well attended, but the hockey displayed is deserving of better support.

In the Edmonton junior hockey league, Jimmy Slugg and Johnny Rypien are proving their abilities as members of Edmonton Canadians. Slugg is now leader in the scoring race and Rypien's deceptive shifts have been receiving plenty of praise from Edmonton sports commentators.

What's Ahead For Canada?

We don't know . . . but we are willing to bet that whatever problems the New Year brings, Canadians will find the answer . . . Why? Simply because they have always done so. Ever since their ancestors landed among the Indians they've had problems . . . and . . . they've had pessimists who told them the country was doomed . . . just as we have today . . . but . . . somehow they found the answer . . . found it far too often for it to be an accident . . . that's why we are so confident about Canada's future . . . that's why we are planning not just for tomorrow but for many years ahead. We have faith in Canada and Canadians.

Soldiers' Letters

Dear Sirs: Well, here goes a few lines to let you know that all's o.k. and that Xmas went over 100% even though we didn't spend it with our loved ones.

First of all I want to thank the Legion for its splendid gifts throughout the past year and also the miners' union for the cigs I received just before Xmas, and lastly, but not least, the Ladies Auxiliary for the lovely Xmas parcel, which also arrived before Xmas.

I must say we from Coleman have a town of which to be very proud. I don't know, nor have I heard, of any other place in Canada that looks after its boys overseas as well as Coleman. On behalf of all over here I wish to convey my hearty thanks to all local organizations and to the people of Coleman who make these gifts possible.

The Journals have been arriving regularly, and boy, are they appreciated. I give them to Roy Garrett within a couple of days of their arrival. I met Ross Foster on Xmas morning and we had a little chat together and at the moment we only reside a few minutes walk from each other.

Roy Foster is getting along all right after his accident.

Our Xmas dinner, even though we were in a forward area, was 100% swell. We had all we wanted to eat and as for our unit we ate as good as could be served at home. We had geese and ducks and Xmas pudding and everything except the cranberry sauce. As for liquor and beer we had more here than could have been secured in Canada under the present restrictions.

After that wonderful feed I proceeded to a nearby city with my lorry to find Roy Garrett and that cinched a real Merry Xmas for us both as I succeeded and that was our first meeting for three years and we were so happy that we just hugged each other. First of all Roy brought out an opener and two bottles of beer and drank a toast and sat down to a good old time chat. We spent the balance of the day together.

Roy, being on the move so often, wasn't quite so fortunate as I in receiving parcels and they still haven't caught up with him. As a result we proceeded to my billet, where we sat down to a "snack" of my parcel. Going back I missed a turn, being night time and no lights, and we were lost for over an hour and lost all sense of direction and once we were heading for the front, but we turned around and finally got back on the proper road. I guess that is one Xmas Roy and I will never forget.

Well, I close with best regards to my folks and a special hello to the Garretts. Tell the Legion that the cigs are coming in swell and that I have lost only one shipment so far and that if they don't arrive everything is still o.k.

Senior CGIT Honor Miss
Joan MacQuarrie, RN

The senior CGIT ("The Jolly Voyagers") met Tuesday evening at the "manse" for their regular group meeting. After worship had been taken and business disposed of, Miss MacQuarrie gave the girls a very interesting and inspiring lesson in sick nursing and bed making. How to make the heart case comfy and the broken thigh were demonstrated. Isabel Ewing acted as the patient for the evening and proved highly co-operative. Later in the evening a party was held for the guest speaker, and for four of the girls who have January birthdays. On behalf of the group Corinne Fraser, the president, presented Nurse MacQuarrie with one of the Lloyd Douglas books. This was meant as an expression of appreciation for the very able leadership given the group by Miss MacQuarrie while their leader, Mrs. Kettlys, was ill.

Rev. and Mrs. Kettlys have received the happy word by wire of arrival in Canada of their older son, F.C. Ross Kettlys, who has been posted to Canada after finishing his tour.

MATCHES AND LIGHTER FLUID in overseas parcels have started serious fires. Think what this means. Thousands of bags containing letters and parcels lie deep down in a ship's hold, lurching in a rough sea.

If matches or lighter fluid take fire—AND THEY DO—that means that brave seamen must go into the smoke-filled hold and risk their lives. Thousands of parcels may be destroyed—thousands of men disappointed.

The Control Of Germany

DURING TROUBLED TIMES such as those in which we are living today, it is natural for people to think much of the future, and to hope that when peace and order are restored again, it will be for all time, not just for an interval between wars. At present there is evidence of deep public interest in plans for an international peace organization and in proposals for making certain that Germany will not regain the power to attempt for a third time conquests such as she started in 1914 and again in 1939. Any official plans which the leaders of the Allied nations may have made for dealing with Germany after the war are, of course, not known to the public, but it is considered probable that this subject was discussed at the conferences at Quebec, and at Dumbarton Oaks.

Many Proposals Are Advanced

Because there has been no announcement regarding an Allied agreement for dealing with Germany, concern has been expressed in some quarters that a sudden collapse of the enemy might find us without a prepared plan of action. Meanwhile many suggestions are being advanced for imposing terms on Germany, which would most likely lead to lasting peace. These proposals deal with many aspects of the question but one point which is emphasized in all of them, is that some way must be found to keep the Germans from again building up a powerful war machine. This would involve either destroying, or maintaining strict control over what are called the "heavy industries", which include those producing oil, metal goods and chemicals. Suggested methods of accomplishing this are numerous. There are some who believe that Germany should be stripped of all her industries and be converted to an agricultural country. Dr. James E. Conant, President of Harvard University, advocates the total liquidation of Germany's heavy industry, "even if these measures require a re-orientation of the economic balance of the world".

Must Prevent Further War

Others are of the opinion that such drastic measures would cause hardship throughout Europe because of the economic complications, and that it would be preferable to allow the industries to remain, but with strict Allied control to prevent them being used for the production of war material. Because of the ingenuity with which Germans can devise new materials and processes, it is realized that the task of preventing them from re-arming will have to be carried out with great thoroughness. One method, suggested by American technical experts, is to prohibit large electric power plants within Germany, but to supply industries there with power from neighboring countries, making it possible to cut them off should they not be used for purely peaceful purposes. Whatever means may be decided upon, it is to be hoped that they will prove effective in preventing Germany from starting a Third World War a few years from now.

New Westminster Men Expect To Make Trial Flight Soon

Several men at New Westminster British Columbia, are building a "flying windmill" of their own design which is of a more modern helicopter type.

It obtains both life and forward action from two counter-rotating propellers mounted over the fuselage.

The rudder and elevators control the direction of the craft, and power is supplied by a V-8 automobile engine.

Lacking priority rating, the builders had to scrounge junk yards and auto wreckers. The inventors are expecting to make a trial flight soon. If successful, it will be the first workable helicopter to be built in Canada.

The Royal Bank of Canada Annual Meeting

Morris W. Wilson, President, says continued Canadian development depends on world-wide system of trading based on international monetary and exchange stability. Urges Canada be one of first to approve principles of Bretton Woods Conference.

Sydney G. Dobson, Vice-President and General Manager, reports total assets at all branches with year's increase greatest in history of bank; southern branches in unique position to facilitate Latin-American trade.

The vital importance to Canada's future welfare of a healthy foreign trade based on international monetary and exchange stability was emphasized by Morris W. Wilson, President of The Royal Bank of Canada at the bank's Annual Meeting.

Canada owed her economic development from earliest days, said Mr. Wilson, to foreign trade and the level of pre-war activity could not only have to be maintained after the war, but actually expanded, possibly to double their pre-war value, if Canada was to secure an adequate national income.

FOREIGN TRADE PROBLEMS

"Normally we export considerably more to Great Britain and other countries of the Empire than we import from them. On the other hand our imports from the United States are usually in excess of our exports to that country. Under normal exchange conditions it was necessary to adjust our situation. Our sterling balances accumulated through exports to the Empire were readily exchangeable for U.S. dollars and used to pay for what we purchased in the United States.

"War time experience, however, has shown the difficulties which arise when a multilateral adjustment of trade is required. As a result of the control of sterling made necessary by the war, Canada has been forced to turn to the United States for the importation of British balances, through inter-bank loans, mutual aid, and the repatriation of Canadian securities. We are now able to purchase and export and travel in the United States, in order to reduce the demand for U.S. dollars, thereby making it easier for us to pay for essential imports. If the world should be divided into exclusive trading areas after the war, as is frequently suggested, of which our mightiest stockpiling and another on the U.S. dollar, Canada would be in a particularly disadvantageous position since we properly belong in neither group.

"The great importance of the Commonwealth of Nations, and the commonality that one unit of currency is essential to the United States, and the secure our position in the eyes of the world. Because of these factors, and our own selfish interests, we must work for a world wide system of trading. There is no altruism about it."

CANNOT STAND ALONE

"If international trade on the broadest scale is not fully restored, what Canada does independently to preserve her foreign markets, to maintain her exports, and improve the quality of our exports, improves our standards of living, and the well-being of the world. It is our duty to our country to which we export, up to the limit of their capacity to sell to us, or of our ability to absorb their products. These are basic principles which Canada can and should adopt, whatever the rest of the world may do."

"What other alternatives will we have? In the first place, we might have to restrict our exports to the ability of foreign markets to pay for our products. Since many of our major export commodities are produced on a scale out of all proportion to our own consumption, the subsequent unemployment of men and the social problems which would arise, would build up a load that our economy and our people could not carry. Secondly, Canada might provide credits to countries desiring to import goods on a basis similar to the credits to our allies, established during the war, but with the hope of ultimate repayment. Finally, we could subsidize exports."

"Furthermore, as I stated a year ago, I believe it would be sound policy for Canada not only to extend liberal long-term credits to countries who are actual or potential buyers of Canadian products, but in special cases to make outright gifts of goods, raw material, finished goods and machinery to assist in the rehabilitation of such countries."

"This far could we go, independently of the policies of other powers. But a moment of consideration will show how slight our hopes of success would be without international co-operation."

Mr. Wilson reviewed the function of gold as an international currency prior to and after the last war but pointed out that the "gold standard" was never entirely automatic in its operation. The system could never have been maintained, he said, "without the unrivalled supremacy of the City of London in the foreign exchange and international investment markets, the degree of liquidity it maintained, the great foreign loans it floated, the willingness of Great Britain to accept imports of goods and services for payment on loans and last but by no means least, the knowledge and experience of the great London banks and financial houses."

male officers who were under 45 at the war's outbreak.

Looking to the problems of the post-war years, Mr. Dobson stated that one of the bank's first considerations would be the placing in suitable positions of the members of the staff who were serving in the various armed services. "This matter," he said, "is foremost in our minds and is being given careful study. The affairs of customers in many cases will undergo great changes in the transition period from war production to peacetime needs. In this transition we shall be called upon to play an important part in assisting financially in helping to bring about this change. It may be necessary for us to revise to some extent the existing practice of making loans for short terms only, and in certain circumstances to consider loans extending over a period of two, three, or five years to meet changed conditions.

"It is not implying that we should depart from our policy of prudent banking, but because of our large holdings of readily negotiable Government securities, we may, without risk to our funds, assist deserving borrowers with longer term loans."

"Your bank is strong financially and excellently well equipped to handle post-war financing, and we shall consider it our patriotic duty to play our full part in assisting business generally in becoming re-established."

Change Will Be Drastic

Report Says English Business Men To Have Gayer Clothes

Frank Lowe, Canadian Press Staff Writer, says: It just won't be the same London, that's all.

Imagine it if you can, but rumor has it that in the years of peace that are coming English businessmen will report to their solid offices on Threadneedle street wearing tweed jackets and colored sport slacks. . . . That salesmen along Regent street will be sporting mauve waistcoats. . . . That government employees will chase the shadows in the parliament buildings with screaming yellow neckties. . . . That before everyone says "impossible" let's look at how this will come about.

Firstly, the creators of these empire shaking statements are men who daily gather in their offices along Bond street and plot the wardrobe of the nation.

They say the accent in men's clothes will be in the vivid colors, comfort and style—which means a clothing revolution for Englishtown.

They paint a picture of a peace celebration which will see hundreds of portly gentlemen building bonfires of the one pair of striped trousers they have worn day in, day out for five war years, of bowler hats being flung in the air and being replaced by comfortable felts, of gas shirts with detachable, multi-colored collars blossoming on every manly shoulder.

It sounds all very cheering but, alas, there's another side to the question, the side as presented by Dr. G. Brownlee, Esq., who for 25 years now has been going to his office in the city in a cutaway coat, striped pants and bowler.

In a voice that was as near a scream as such a dignified person could use, he said something about such ideas tearing down the fabric of the nation. With a few splutters he concluded: ". . . and if anyone ever came into my office wearing an orange shirt I would throw him out with my own hands."

HEAVY TASK UNITED NATIONS SHARE IN PROVIDING FOOD FOR LIBERATED COUNTRIES

WASHINGTON.—One of the great tasks Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom will share through the combined production and resources board, which Ottawa, London and Washington simultaneously announced they would carry on until Germany and Japan are conquered, will be provision of relief and rehabilitation materials for liberated and conquered countries.

The announcement puts into official form the functions of the board to assist relief agencies, such as the United Nations relief and rehabilitation mission sent to the United States by countries in a position to pay for their relief needs.

This function of the board has already been assumed in the constitution of U.N.R.R.A. and has been discharged to an increasing degree in the procurement of relief materials.

France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Norway are going to finance their own relief and rehabilitation needs which will run into enormous quantities of the means of production, as well as food, clothing, housing and fuel.

Experts in the foreign economic administration here are working on a draft plan for the relief and rehabilitation of Germany to be ready when sizeable areas of the enemy country are conquered. A British agency is doing the same but officials here see the possibility that before they are ready with definite plans Russia will have offered a concrete example of how the Soviet government intends to meet that problem.

Many On Waiting List For Atlantic Crossing By Air

WINNIPEG. Such is the interest in trans-ocean flying that the traffic department of Trans-Canada Air Lines reports 54 persons had requested that their names be recorded on a waiting list for the first post-war time commercial crossing of the Atlantic as of last November 30.

TCA operates the trans-Atlantic service for the Dominion government, carrying mail, freight and high-priority passengers. During the month of November, 12 east-bound and 13 west-bound flights were completed between Montreal and the United Kingdom. These involved the movement of 120,616 pounds of mail, 9,750 pounds of freight and 100 passengers.

Some Canadian Troops Well Looked After Under New System

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS ON THE ADRIATIC. Old sailors will be glad to know that, thanks to a new system, Canadian troops in slit trenches along the Senio river have been getting a change of socks every 24 hours.

Clean socks come up with the rations and the soiled ones go back to the divisional mobile laundry.

Moreover, troops coming from the line for brief rests go directly to bed and when they awaken next morning they find their uniforms have been washed, dried and pressed and clean shirts, socks and underwear are ready for them.

V.C. Winner Gets Another "Award"

Canada's Victoria Cross winner, Private Ernest A. "Smoky" Smith knew that many honors went with the presentation of the Empire's highest award for bravery on the field of battle, but the new experience of receiving a Christmas kiss from a stewardess seemed to please him as evidenced in the above picture.

The picture was taken on the last lap of a 10,000-mile air trip from overseas to his home in New Westminster, B.C., which was accomplished in less than 36 hours. While waiting to resume his journey with Trans-Canada Air Lines after a brief stop-over, Elizabeth Free, pretty T.C.A. stewardess, who accompanied him on part of the flight, wished him God speed and kissed him on the cheek.

Private Smith, who has been referred to as the "one-man army," won the Victoria Cross for establishing a bridgehead across the Savio River, in Italy, last October 21. Single-handed, he stood off three German tanks and about 30 fully-armed infantry.

SERVICE RESUMED

Boat Train For Paris Takes Three Classes Of Travellers

LONDON.—The first civilian boats train in four years and nine months left London Jan. 15 for Paris. Passengers were notified shortly before they assembled.

The service, sponsored by the ministry of war transport and French authorities, will take only three classes of travellers—businessmen whose journeys have been certified by the government, relatives of wounded soldiers, and service men.

The travellers all carefully checked by French and British officials, must make their own arrangements for billeting and feeding in Paris.

Norwegians Successful In First Big Attack Against Germans

LONDON.—Norwegian troops, launching their first big attack against the Germans, have driven 80 miles through the snow-piled wastes of Finnmark and captured one of the two most important German air bases in northern Norway, the Norwegian high command announced.

The advance was made on a broad front and increased the liberated area of burned and ravaged Finnmark to 8,664 square miles, or nearly half of the northern Norwegian county.

Former Corps Commander Overseas Will Survey Army Reinforcements

OTTAWA. Lt.-Gen. Ernest William Sanson, 55, former corps commander overseas, has been given a special appointment of inspector-general to survey army reinforcements in Canada, the United Kingdom and in northwest Europe and the Mediterranean theatres of war, defence headquarters announced.

The announcement said Gen. Sanson would make the survey "to ensure complete co-ordination of all matters relating to the standard and type of training and the handling and availability of reinforcements." He will report directly to Defence Minister McNaughton.

WINNIPEG GOLDEYES

Prices Board Has Set For First Time Ceiling Price On Fresh Water Fish

OTTAWA.—The prices board announced specific ceiling prices at which processors may sell Winnipeg goldeyes, making the first time the board has set such ceiling for any fresh water fish.

The processor's ceiling prices of 30 cents per pound on sales to wholesalers and 35 cents to retailers, F.O.B. Winnipeg, are approximately at last year's levels.

PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL SAYS RUSSIAN DRIVE IS PART OF CO-ORDINATED VICTORY PLAN

LONDON.—Prime Minister Churchill in a war review which ranged from Balkan politics to all the fighting theatres of the world told the House of Commons that the present Russian drive was part of a co-ordinated victory plan to keep all fronts "in constant flame until the final climax."

He gave American troops complete credit for stopping the "costly sortie" by Field Marshal Von Rundstedt in the west and he once again endorsed the Allied demand for the unconditional surrender of Germany and Japan.

Mr. Churchill said he and Marshal Stalin had reached an agreement on dealing with the Balkans to prevent future wars, but that this agreement did not divide Europe into spheres of influence after the war.

He challenged the house to another vote of confidence on his policy in liberated lands, declaring that Britain would pursue a wartime policy of interference in middle Europe so long as he held office.

President Roosevelt had been kept informed of the exchanges and correspondence with Premier Stalin, he added.

Observing that "Marshal Stalin is very punctual" in keeping his obligations to the Allies, Mr. Churchill said he would not attempt to "set limits to the superb and titanic events" unfolding on the eastern front.

"I can only say," he said, "that it is certain that the whole eastern and western fronts and on the long front in Italy, where 27 German divisions are still held by no more than their number, will be kept henceforth in constant flame until the final climax is reached."

Declaring Von Rundstedt's winter offensive was more likely to shorten the war than lengthen it, he said the Americans "have lost 60 to 80 men for every one of ours" in stopping it.

In closing his two hour speech—which was broken by time out for lunch—Mr. Churchill brought the house to its feet cheering as he asserted:

"We seek no territory, we covet no oil fields, we demand no bases for the forces of the air or of the sea."

"We do not see ourselves up in rivalry or bigness or might with any other community in the world. We have given and we shall continue to give everything we have. We ask nothing in return except that consideration and respect which is our due and if that were denied us we shall still have a good conscience."

"Let none either in our country or commonwealth or in the outside world misname us," traduce our methods. Our actions are no doubt subject to human error but our actions in small things and great are disinterested, lofty and true. I repulse these calumnies, wherever they come from, that Britain and the British empire are selfish, power greedy and land greedy and obsessed by dark schemes of European intrigue or colonial expansion."

"The British commonwealth and nation may rest assured that the Union Jack of freedom will forever fly from the white cliffs of Dover."

JAPANESE PREMIER

A Reported Move To Force His Resignation

SAN FRANCISCO.—Japan's Domei agency, hinting at a move to force the resignation of Premier Kuniaki Koiso, said that some newly developed "factions" among national leaders were clamoring for "a bold and unprecedented political renovation" and "a second political reformation."

Reporting on the political crisis, Domei said the matter was expected to come before the diet Jan. 21. The report said discussion had developed within the powerful Imperial Rule Assistance Political Society.

TO DISCUSS REPORT

LONDON.—The British government has decided to send a mission to the governments of India and the dominions to discuss the report submitted by the commonwealth communications council to the governments of the empire last May, it was learned.

PRICE SUPPORT POLICIES FOR AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS ARE BASED ON THE EXPORT MARKET

SASKATOON.—As it is impossible for the present population of Canada to consume more than half of the agricultural production of the dominion and price support policies are based on the assumption that the surplus can be sold somewhere, said J. G. Taggart, chairman of the agricultural prices support board, in an address to the Saskatchewan Livestock Association here.

"Therefore, unless we can maintain a large volume of external trade the price support program cannot be successful," he said. "We have an obligation to maintain friendly and amicable relations with other nations, and if we can do this the cause of price collapse will be eliminated."

Price support for agricultural products had universal acceptance across Canada, he said, and its purpose would be to guide production so as to raise and lower prices. It was imperative to maintain the same price in Canada for agricultural products as outside the dominion in order to avoid retaliation from other countries by way of embargoes and high tariffs, he emphasized.

Present prices, although moderate, were reasonably stable, he said, adding the farmer responded more favorably to a reasonable and stable price over a long period than to a high price for his product during a shortage period of prosperity.

Allies Lift Restrictions On Five Of Rome's Newspapers

ROME. Full news service was restored to the Italian press following the lifting of Allied restrictions, and the United Press, with which is affiliated the British United Press, began service to five of Rome's ten newspapers.

News service by independent news agencies had been interrupted by the German occupation and control of the country, and later by the Allied psychological warfare board which until now has controlled all news in the Italian press.

HOMELESS GERMANS

STOCKHOLM.—Werner Taesler, Swedish architect and member of an international group studying post-war reconstruction, estimated it would take from 25 to 30 years to rebuild destroyed housing in Germany. He estimated at least 13,000,000 Germans have lost their housing.

BASIC INDUSTRIES

Must Be Assured Of Better Conditions In Post-War Years

WINNIPEG.—Premier Stuart S. Garson of Manitoba told the annual meeting of the Manitoba Liberal-Progressive Association that the likelihood of any real prosperity in western Canada is the farmers' margin of profit between costs and selling price.

He said basic industries must be assured of a prosperous condition in the post-war years to provide high employment in western Canada.

The Manitoba government has set its post-war machinery in motion to maintain a slogan of jobs for everyone and adequate social security for those unable to work.

"Basic industries must be prosperous to avert the nightmare of mass unemployment."

Peace Conference In Athens

Here is a view of the conference room in Athens where representatives of the Greek warring factions sat down to talk it over, after listening to a warning by Prime Minister Churchill. Apparently there was no heat or light available. For the conferees wear their overcoats, and hurricane lamps on the table are the only means of illumination. At the right of the table may be identified British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden, Prime Minister Churchill, Bishop Damaskinos (now regent) and Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander, commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean theatre of operations.

Cigarette Fund Notes

Dear Sirs: Received carton of Winchesters a day or so ago and wish to extend the usual very sincere thanks. I guess the postal channels are fairly heavily congested over the Xmas rush, as the cigarettes are not so prompt in coming over since about a week before Xmas, but they are more than ever welcome when they do arrive.

I am now one of these ex-operational types for a while. We finished our tour on the second of this month and I can truthfully say I wish we were still flying. Being grounded is no fun. I may stay over here for a few months as instructor, but would like to get back under the Alberta sun as soon as possible. Haven't run into any Colemans for some time. Young Destobel is still at this station.

—Tex Larrimore.

Dear Sirs: Received another carton of cigarettes today, for which I thank you very much. I've met my friend Lorny Caroe four or five times since Christmas. He's looking good and it was great to see him.—Roy Garrett.

Dear Sirs: Many thanks for the Sweet Caps I received this morning. This being my first shipment to come through for seven weeks. All is well with us here in Holland. Xmas holidays were spent very quietly, of course we were up in a forward position. Don't think I'll ever forget this New Year. At the stroke of 12 we opened up with everything we had and so did Jerry. Dan Daly is still with me. He sends his regards to all Coleman friends. Coon Halluck was with us as far the Leopold Canal back in Belgium. There he was slightly injured and is now back in an English hospital.—Al. Krywolt.

Dear Sirs: Many thanks for 600 Winchester cigs received yesterday. I had just finished smoking my last cigarette in the morning and these arrived in the afternoon, so this year is lucky so far. As these are a joint gift from the miners' union and the Canadian Legion, may I thank you both a million and remind you that they are more than ever appreciated at this time. Best wishes to all during 1945 and may it be a victorious year for all of us.—Archie Wragg.

Dear Sirs: I received your Xmas parcel yesterday with another carton of cigarettes. The parcel arrived in perfect shape and was really swell, everything being expertly packed.

I hope that by this time next year we will be making parcels for the children. Lorny Caroe was just in with a couple of Journals and they are surely good to read. After reading them I send them to Jimmy Lloyd, so you see the paper gets around.—Roy Garrett.

Dear Sirs: Just a line to thank the Ladies Auxiliary for a very nice Xmas parcel they sent me, and which reached me just a few days before Xmas. I want to thank all who make these gifts possible.—Bill Ferby.
